

Albert Juhé Lluveras

contact@albertjuhe.com · www.albertjuhe.com

I am a Front-End Developer and JavaScript Engineer with more than six years of work experience. I am passionate about Internet, new web technologies and computer science in general.

Work Experience

JavaScript Engineer, Curelator, Barcelona. Spain MAY 2015 – PRESENT

---

I am the JavaScript Engineer and Front-End Developer of Curelator since May 2015. In Curelator I learned and I am still learning how to start a project from scratch and how to deal with the responsibility of taking the decisions relative to the front-end side of the project.

React, Alt (Flux implementation), D3.js, Webpack and Mocha are some of the tools we use.

Front End Developer, Bownty, Copenhagen. Denmark FEBRUARY 2014 – APRIL 2015

---

I was a Front-End Developer —first as an intern and later as a full-time employee— in Bownty, where I learned how to work in medium-sized teams and how to deal with the code of a big application. I also acquired the responsibility of deploying code directly to production.

Grunt, Backbone, Marionette and Phonegap were some of the tools we used to develop the desktop and mobile site as well as the mobile app.

Web Developer, Sanabre Comunica, Barcelona. Spain MARCH 2013 – FEBRUARY 2014

---

I worked at Sanabre Comunica creating websites using CMS like Drupal, WordPress or Magento.

Front-End Developer, OK Apartment, Barcelona. Spain OCTOBER 2010 – JULY 2012

---

I was the CSS and JavaScript programmer of the company's websites.

Education

Computer Science Bachelor, Pompeu Fabra University, Barcelona. Spain 2009 – 2013

---

260 ECTS, including an Erasmus in Otto-von-Guericke Universität Magdeburg (Germany).

Volunteer Experience

Developer, Mozilla SINCE OCTOBER 2013

---

I have been involved with Mozilla since 2006 and in October 2013 I started contributing to the Firefox code base as a volunteer developer, my work consisted of updating the developer tools UI and improving the inspector highlighter. I attended to FOSDEM 2010 (Brussels) and MozCamp Europe 2008 (Barcelona) invited by Mozilla.

Interests

- Web: I am an enthusiast of everything related to the web and Internet, I am specially interested in new web technologies like HTML 5, CSS3, WebGL...
- Collaboration: I like contributing to nonprofit organizations. I have collaborated with countless of them from very different topics: software (Mozilla, Songbird, Softcatalà), Internet (Wikipedia and sister projects —I have been Catalan Wikinews administrator and bureaucrat) and social.
- Cycling: I love urban cycling, it is a healthy way to move around the city and discover lots of things you couldn't appreciate traveling by car or underground.